The Academy of the Visitation

THE Academy of the Visitation—an accredited school for girls—is conducted by the Sisters of the Order of the Visitation, which was founded at Annecy, Haute Savoie, in the year 1610, by St. Francis, Count de Sales, and St. Jane Frances, Baroness de Chantal. This Academy was founded in the year 1833 from Georgetown, D. C., where the Order was introduced in the year 1799 and the first Visitation Convent in this country established.

LOCATION

Situated on a beautiful elevated site in the western part of St. Louis, the Academy has an extensive range of buildings, with ample halls and rooms that have approved sanitary equipment, and all the necessary appointments for school purposes. The spacious grounds, with their shady walks and courts, have in abundance everything conducive to a love for outdoor sports.

The Academy is accessible in about thirty-five minutes from the business portion of the city, by means of the Delmar Avenue electric cars, which run near the convent on the south, and the Hodiadmont on the north.

GOVERNMENT

The government of the Academy is eminently maternal. Every effort is made to compensate children for separation from home and friends; and they are subjected to such discipline, only, as is essential to good order and the formation of habits of self-control, which constitute the foundation of happiness in after life.

The object of the Academy is to provide for the students a thorough, systematic, Christian education, to train not only the minds of its pupils, but also their hearts, that they may go forth, "Great, strong, valiant women, to stand for virtue, to stand for God." No one who evinces a spirit of insubordination too strong to be overcome by the mild but firm discipline of the Institution will be kept after the fact becomes known. The same is true of those who do not prove equal to the recommendation on which they were received.

The pupils must cultivate an amiable disposition, polite deportment and gentle manners.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION

Christian Doctrine receives special attention. Catechism, Bible History, and the Gospels are taught in graded classes, and instructions are regularly given in each department.

Non-Catholic pupils are required to attend these classes, though they are not obliged to recite.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

The scholastic year is divided into two sessions.

Payment for each session is to be made in advance. No pupil will be allowed to enter upon a new session until all expenses of previous ones are paid.

Two business and two social references are required before the admission of a pupil. Pupils are received at any time of the year, their session dating from day of entrance.

No deduction is made for absence less than two consecutive weeks, and this, only in case of illness.

No money will be advanced for clothing or other needs; hence, sufficient funds must be deposited with the Directress to defray incidental expenses.

Damage to property or breakage in any department will be charged to the pupil's account.

The Institution will not be responsible for jewelry or other valuables belonging to the pupils. Pocket money should be deposited with the Directress.

Pupils must be supplied with stationery, stamps, etc.

Letters written or received are subject to inspection. A correspondence list and a visiting list signed by parents or guardian are required for each pupil.

The pupils may receive visits on Saturdays and Sundays. These visits must be authorized by parents as well as sanctioned by the Directress.

Visiting hours terminate at five o'clock in winter and six o'clock in summer. On school days no one is accessible to callers, except on extraordinary occasions.

Pupils in good standing in class and deportment will be permitted to visit their parents at stated times. Those who fail to return at the appointed time forfeit their honors.

It is requested that dentistry, shopping, and dressmaking be attended to at home. When such visits are necessary during the school term, the pupils must be accompanied by a chap-eight

eron, chosen or approved by the Directress. The expense of chaperon is borne by the pupil.

All literature brought to the Academy must be submitted to the Directress for inspection. Questionable books will not be returned.

Applicants for entrance are required to present a record of work in the school last attended.

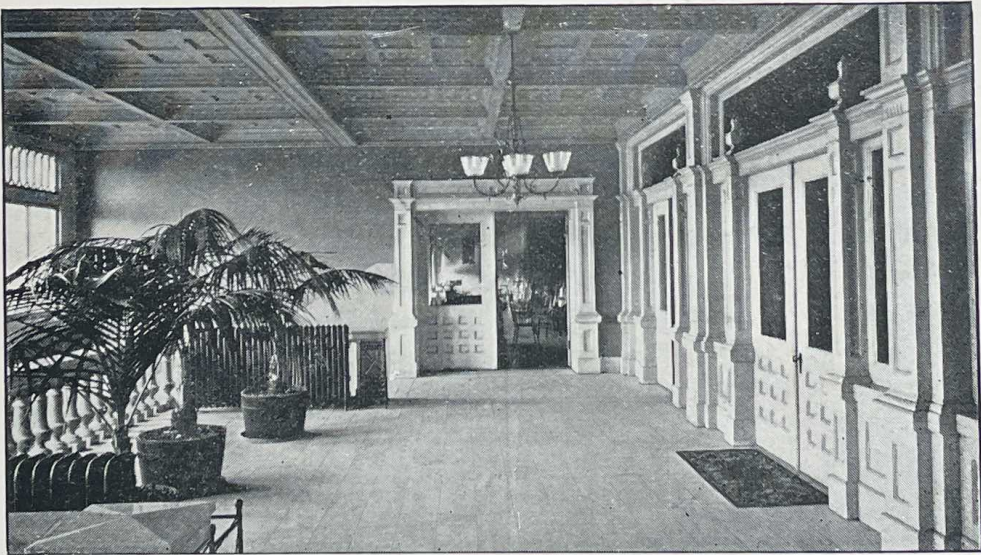

Day pupils are subject to the rules and regulations of the Academy.

Day pupils are not allowed to take out letters or attend to commissions for boarders without permission from the Directress.

Pupils are not allowed to leave the Academy before the close of school hours without written request from parents.

Parents are requested not to make appointments with dentist, dressmaker, or for music lessons, before the close of school hours.

Parents and guardians who enter pupils are understood to accept all of these regulations.

Entrance

WARDROBE REGULATIONS

For winter wear, each student is required to have two dark navy blue Peter Thompson serge dresses, trimmed with black braid. The same serge (or lighter weight) with plain all-white waists, are substituted as the spring and fall uniform. These waists are laundered at the student's expense. The skirts must be twelve inches from the ground, or they will be altered at the Academy and the work charged to the student's account.

For Commencement Day, a simple white lingerie dress, white ribbons and white shoes are worn.

In addition to the uniforms, students must be provided with the following articles before entering for the fall term:

Four complete changes of underwear.	A dark gray or navy blue sweater.
Six pairs of black or tan hose.	A winter wrap and head covering.

Affiliations

The Academy is affiliated in all its regular courses with the St. Louis University, the Missouri State University, and the Washington University of St. Louis.

COURSES OF STUDY

Three courses of study are offered—a General Course, an English-Scientific and a Latin-French Course. Diplomas are conferred for the satisfactory completion of each course. Each course extends through four years of academic work. Sixteen units in academic subjects are required for graduation.

For admission to the Academy, students may present properly certified credits of work done in other accredited schools.

Two years' attendance at the Academy is required for graduation, and all must be resident students the last year.

A Commercial Course and courses in special subjects are offered to those students who may desire them.

All Catholic students take the full four years' course in Religion.
